A Fourth Revelation

No, you do not ramble, as you would say. What you are experiencing is special, but you are understood and supported by a core of people whom you trust. The near and distant future will show them the exactness of what we say.

"Most of the individuals populating this Earth live in total ignorance of the reality of created worlds and the laws governing them.

"Throughout their lives, some enlightened minds bring up ideas and try to open the eyes of their fellow creatures. Many of them are not taken seriously; one must hit hard to be heard. Whatever the criticisms they give rise to, they go forward, fulfilling their mission.

"They do not waste their time. Some wise men follow them and accept their words and the vision of the world that they propose.

"These inspired beings promote the understanding of God's great intentions, for which Masters come to Earth to help their brothers.

"The reign of fraternity and love will not happen very soon, but it is in the making and nothing will stop it. Since your eyes are already opened to this reality, never give up no matter what happens; you are on the right track."
