Sunday, October 25, 1998 - 10:30 a.m.

Yes, I am here, my child, relax, and remain surrendered. Your path is thorny, but luminous. Life on Earth is a short stay, as I already told you.

"Make the most of your remaining time to reach higher planes; we will help you in that. We bestow our attention and love on you. Remain in the peace of heart and in harmony with your circle. Pure hearts will see who you are. You have yet to give a lot, to illuminate the souls which move around you. You are helping [people], even without your knowledge. There are mysteries not really perceptible by humans. What matters is to accomplish your life's path, you came for that; do your best. We try to find a way whereby you will be helped without it being too burdensome. Don't lose heart, be strong, my dear daughter!

"I bless you."

Babuji