Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, October 31, 1998 – 11:00 a.m.

(Meditation given by Patrick in the ashram.)

Your isolation is intended, with respect to the ashram. You are a sponge, you absorb too much of what is not for you. We ensure that you manage to gain control over that by transforming a mass of samskaras into positive energy. But, for the moment, your own evolution is more important. Let yourself be guided; you are not wasting time, believe me. Meditate well with Patrick, my child, you are going to be in communion with one another. Remain in grace and divine beauty.

Until tomorrow.

Babuji
