It will take a long time again before individuals could revert to a more accurate interpretation of the divine laws. This religion uses it as a dreadful weapon to settle its economic and political power on most parts of the Earth. Through a frightening organization, it is striving to regain its privileges reduced for a few decades. Will man of the twenty-first century be a victim of it? Wait and see. That organization has dreadful means. It is supported and promoted by the authorities in place, and they are also caught in the movement.

"Our candidates will continue on the way they chose, without being put under pressure from our part. That is not one of our practices. 'Power' is not the objective we pursue. The Master in charge works for the abhyasis who trust him. Our practising candidates do not pledge allegiance to him, neither do they kiss his feet nor his hands, and they are not enslaved by any means. They have only to work for themselves by carrying out the spiritual exercises we advise them to do. Do not become alarmed too much by such as this catchy and inappropriate campaign. Each one is free to follow, in his own heart, the way which is convenient to him."
