Friday, December 29, 2000 – 8:00 a.m.

Nuclear power will ruin the world. This badly controlled power is demonic. One day, humanity will be overwhelmed by its power. It will be the origin of upheavals that will transform the world. It has much wider implications than any of you can imagine, and these contribute to destabilising the balance of this planet. In this matter also, human beings are playing with fire, without actually being aware of the detrimental consequences for humanity.

"A natural energy will replace all that is currently used and that is harmful to people. For the time being, human knowledge does not allow for its use. These secrets will be revealed to people of goodwill, who will look into an inspired scientific research. That energy will be non-polluting and inexpensive. The power of money will not satisfy those who have it; only the absolute necessity of the survival of the world will prevail. This is not going to happen tomorrow. The Earth will go through radical changes before these times arrive.

"These prophecies do not concern you all. You are undergoing the damaging effects of this insidious pollution that will lead the world to its ruin, but you can neither stop time nor modify the system that is in place. So protect yourselves as well as possible from these harmful effects and pray for your brothers and sisters of the future."

Babuji