Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, November 15, 1998 – 10:35 a.m.

Yes, meditate, my child. It's the best you can do. Do you realize your luck, what your life would be without this spiritual dimension? Your health problems would not be lessened. Before love can truly reign over all the Earth, there is still much to do, and you have your small place in this vast programme; don't underestimate it. The Mission is expanding in the world and will one day be a source of help and relief for the beings of goodwill. Continue to fight courageously, my child, we are doing our best for you. We are finetuning our work to give you the real means to act for us, effectively. You are a good subject, who meets all our expectations.

The Medium: I would like to do more and better, Babuji!

Don't be impatient; let us proceed at our discretion. Be in 'surrender' – we will repeat this to you time and again, it is the most important thing. Remember the image (a piece of raw wood is more easily worked). Leave that to us; be in love, and practice as much as you can. This weekend's work at the ashram is very beneficial and has to be repeated often. The gatherings foster greater effectiveness. Have a good day, remain centred, show who you are deep inside.

We bless you as well as those who will cross the threshold of this apartment.
