Your gifts are not at issue in the problem which is tormenting my son; we can do and say nothing more for the moment. Remember what you are told today: your competence is perfectly what we need.

"You should relax and keep your perceptions intact by letting the transmission carry you. This transmission is the major asset of Sahaj Marg. This so simple means of connection to the Source, ignored during such a long time and given again to the world by the grace of my Divine Master, is at the disposal of the souls who need it. This transmission is a true blessing for the world; it can transform hearts avid for the Absolute and touch souls awaiting grace.

"Our way is making progress slowly; nothing can be forced. It is developing according to divine laws, in spite of the obstruction, which certain recrudescent forces can make for a limited time.

"Cultivate in your hearts this incandescent flower, of which you do not even suspect the importance in your lives. It transforms you thoroughly and regenerates you in the most subtle part of your being. Be deeply receptive and let yourself be conquered to become conquerors in your turn."
