Whispers from The Brighter World
A Fourth Revelation

Saturday, March 3, 2001 - 10:00 a.m.

Each life has its own richness, which is not always to the liking of its beneficiaries.

"It is necessary to have reached a certain level of wisdom to be able to put things in perspective and to regard ordeals as blessings.

"Once this point of surrender and detachment is reached, a being's life becomes exemplary.

"Very few people actually come to this blessed state, which requires a particular nobility of soul. They however exist. They are among you and they pass unnoticed in the eyes of their brothers who are worried by a thousand other things, and whose priorities lie elsewhere and this speech may seem irrational to them.

"The progress of each one is varied and specific to his evolution. Each being is unique as far as he is concerned as well as in his own way of comprehending life. This long way holds surprises for him, and if he manages to use the opportunities offered to him in the best direction, he can succeed beyond its hopes. Everything is a matter of choice. Can he listen to his own inner voice? Does he take account of the warnings or encouragements he is given? That is the question.

"God is great. Sooner or later, each being will open his eyes and will want the best of himself, of this force and this beauty embodied in him, to happen."
