Our writings touch on varied topics. At the time you read them, they can answer a major questioning and make you become aware of your need to reform such-and-such behaviours.

"The human being carries out experiments throughout life. Whether successful or not these experiments enable him to be structured and to progress. It is the goal of life; they are the thread that leads him towards his destiny. If he acknowledges the relevant price, he can grow considerably rich. He must go through difficult situations; things cannot be otherwise.

"That is how the life of everyone is. It represents a priceless mine for he who exploits it correctly.

"Wisdom cannot be acquired easily. How many times should one stumble to get there! Time is at work in man's heart.

"When he discovers reality, he is overwhelmed by gratefulness. He realises how much the way he has gone has made him richer, and he is thankful if he is a wise man. By understanding the meaning of a life well led, he finds peace in himself and he better accepts his lot.

"Be surrendered to the divine Providence, with all our blessings."
