Whispers from The Brighter World
A Fourth Revelation

Thursday, March 22, 2001 - 8:00 a.m.

Reassure this daughter who is so dear to your heart. We watch over him who was her fellow traveler on this Earth. He discovers another life and is working hard at it. She should get over it by considering that, one day, they will meet again on a road where ordeals they experienced together will be forgotten. They will henceforth be able, on their own part, to advance in a way that will make them meet again, one day, and go together towards the light.

"Did you think that I would not appear to you on this special day? We share in your joy. She will also be intent on pursuing this spiritual process that has become necessary to her life. Henceforth, her values will no longer be the same as before.

"The loss of a dear being often modifies future prospects.

"In these circumstances, everyone motivates themselves by readjusting their life towards other objectives. I will come towards you this afternoon. In the meantime, try to remain united through the heart with us and those whom you love and who are following a path parallel to yours."
