Whispers from The Brighter World
A Third Revelation

We are satisfied. Not only is the harvest abundant in terms of the writings accumulated, but we can [also] assess their effects on the few privileged people who have access to them. The test is largely conclusive, shall we say, using the vocabulary in fashion in your world where everything is subjected to tests, contests and other means of selection. The circumstances were such that – and that was not pure coincidence as you conceive it – this selection took place. Each of you must become a torch; what you receive must be shared with persons around you. The necessary means are there: each one of you has his own personality and can express himself accordingly. Wasn't it said that light should not be hidden under a bushel? You should firstly assimilate this knowledge and immerse yourself in it before disseminating it.

"Everything in its own time. At the proper time, inspiration will come which will make you act spontaneously. Continue to feed yourself with these messages. You won't always keep this asset for yourself; it will manage to manifest itself.

"When the harvest has flowered in your hearts, its scent won't be held back; its fragrance will go wherever it pleases. You will yourselves be subjugated by it [the fragrance] and all will be well."
