It's good, my child. Continue to make efforts. Your willingness to better serve us benefits yourself. You know that it's all numbered. It is true that we are better placed than him (the Master) to see what is taking place across the planet.

"We are the bow: he is the arrow. By acting on the two planes, our action is more effective. We conceive, and we make him act. An incarnate Master is important in this respect. Could the Mission be what it is, and become what it will become, without a higher authority to lead it? We are ourselves inspired; it is in the nature of things. Whatever our levels, we are underlings. Wherever we are, it is enough to be surrendered, to be listening to the Divine, and to act as well as possible. Whether working in the background, in obscurity, or openly, all actions matter and form a whole, effective and strong.

"You help through assiduous practice, you help by being fraternal, by having faith in your Master, he who trusts us. We form an effective and divine chain. We belong to a large-scale plan. Imagine an ant hill and its internal activity; it is always collaborative efforts that yield the best results.

"We are advancing towards a sublime goal, not only individually, but the Mission as a whole. It was not created by chance, but by higher will. There were 'envoys' at each stage of humanity. They act for the good of all, even if they are not understood. Each soul ready to hear them and to receive their teaching benefits from it. Be united in faith, in hope and love. With all my blessings."
