Wednesday, June 27, 2001 - 10:00 a.m.

My son is reflecting at length on this project of a meeting between you, as well as the future of these messages. When the time comes, he will surely make the right decision. It is a special matter, unprecedented in the current context. On a lesser scale, I also was receiving messages from the Masters, which enlightened and guided me advisedly in my duty. The situation was different and less complicated than is currently the case; the Mission did not have the same dimensions at the world level. Leave him a little time to manifest himself to you; he is facing so many problems. Be patient, my daughter."

Babuji