The human heart has infinite capabilities well beyond those recognised with the organ of flesh – considered as the main organ of the body. The heart is the seat of the soul. This knowledge is not very widespread; it is reserved for followers of spirituality, capable of going further into knowledge.

"Science is timidly addressing this reality, which is grasped by some enlightened researchers. Evidence cannot be revealed easily. When scientists have actually decided to get rid of their old concepts, an important work will be achieved and light will be cast on issues [considered as] taboos up to now. This new approach will show the reality of the being.

"Religions add to this confusion by developing views that should be modified.

"This new century will witness the progress of truth in many areas. There will be a need for the deliberately developed obscurantism to be outdated. A new human race will emerge from the present masses. It will actually knock over these old constructions, which will make room for the great universal truth, sweeping away erroneous ideas. That will be the true revolution, peaceful but effective. It will be the prelude to the great mutation of this planet."
