Whispers from The Brighter World
A Third Revelation

Saturday, July 21, 2001 - 10:30 a.m.

Going back and rereading these messages, you are amazed by the richness of their contents. The day you will be able to reread them from the beginning, you will rediscover them and you will note that they form a coherent whole, and they present some interest. You can assess the way covered by the chord they strike with you.

"Time, there too, did its work. This daily food influences your path, which is an irreversible gain. It is good, given the stage we have reached, to pause and take stock of the situation. This teaching is a significant contribution to your practice; it provides it another flavour of subtlety. We are happy to see you make progress and realise how much your patience in following us enriched you. Read and reread these messages, you will discover in them facets that escaped you in the first readings.

"The same applies to the books we wrote. When you wish to read them again, you will draw from them another teaching and this new approach will enrich you.

"Perseverance is necessary also in this aspect of your process. We encourage you to continue in this direction, with all our blessings."
