Whispers from The Brighter World
A Third Revelation

Tuesday, July 24, 2001 - 8:00 a.m.

Life is constantly repeating itself. It should be taken as it comes, without refusing what comes along. Whatever may happen, you can change nothing; it is better to welcome the undesirable with as much hindsight as possible. Days are added to days, and most of them do not leave in you an undying memory. All is relative, the good as well as the bad. You must move forward on this often inconvenient path, while clasping to your heart this priceless property of yours. This property is highly precious, since it is out of reach of all that can reduce to ashes the most sumptuous material goods. Your inner treasure is beyond the reach of cataclysms, whatever they are. It is in a safe place, it is inalienable. This reality must enable you to advance calmly and to accept that all material properties be removed from you.

"This stay on Earth is only a transitional incarnation for you, no more or less significant than the others; they are merely the links of the chain which leads to the final conclusion. Only this overall and final result, meant to make of you a new being, matters."
