

Friday, August 3, 2001 - 8:00 AM

All these treacherous attacks affect my son deep inside, all the more as they emanate from some of our associates. The rot has already set in and can easily reach the core.

"Targeting the Master is a base and vile action. These beings should not expect any clemency on our part, they must pay for their acts; it is in the nature of things.

"Let us pity the traitors and cowards capable of such behaviour and let us pray to help them to defeat the evil that drives them. Let us all together turn to the light, it is there, intangible and reliable. It soothes the souls thirsty for its splendour. It attracts them and channels this aspiration, which becomes strength and action.

"The energy of love is powerful, it opens up a waterway in a desert, so that one day a lush vegetation can replace the moving dunes and mirages represented by the forces of evil degrading humanity."

Babuji