Lalaji's Mahasamadhi

For our Great and Revered Master, this was a glorious day: the day he returned to his homeland. We appreciate your keeping it engraved on your memory and your heart by commemorating this special day with a special meditation. Our joy here is reflected on Earth, may you feel it. Make sure that this day of remembrance is perpetuated. The incarnation of this Great Being on Earth marked the beginning of a long story – that of our way, which came into the world, carried by his extreme vigilance. It is continuing on its way with his successors, while remaining under his higher protection. This is how it was bound to be – a new era calls for other methods more appropriate to the present time. May you all be blessed for your thoughts towards him, while remaining in the spirit of this sacred day!"
