Whispers from The Brighter World
A Third Revelation

Thursday, October 11, 2001 - 9:45 a.m.

Being the discreet envoy of a being like your Beloved is a great favour. "What wouldn't one do to serve him and to please him! He grants me his confidence to come towards you for a few times and to convey to you his messages of peace and love, while enlightening you as well as your fellow creatures on current realities and those of the future. It is an imposing mission, given the importance these writings will be lent one day. His Revered Master said it: a long time will elapse before a being of this stature returns and sets his divine feet on the Earth.

"It is wise to start off the mission entrusted to me by placing His greatness in his due space; the simplicity of such a being may overshadow it. He knows how to put himself within the reach of all. His life and his mission were a model of what right behaviour and exemplary devotion must be. It henceforth remains for me to continue what has started, as much as will be necessary, in surrender and utmost humility, that which befits the chosen souls to work under divine inspiration."
