The leaders of a country or a community always claim they have good reasons to attack those they consider as enemies. Their own crimes are fully justified in their eyes. That is how it has always been with mankind. The same errors are repeated endlessly. There is little hope for this to change. They are the protagonists who must change, the entire human race that must change in its very essence. An internal and specific revolution will have to take place: a major biological mutation will have to be carried out so that a different future can be foreseen.

"Humanity is at a turning point of its history: it can disappear or rise from its ashes when its face has changed. There will be no other option [but] to set out again on a sound base. There is currently no miracle solution. Events must escalate to the bitter end, and will keep worsening until the outcome that will leave the two sides on their knees. One must face the truth and not hide from the sad facts.

"Having positive thoughts and keeping hope for better days for this planet is the best attitude. Wishing for its profound mutation ardently will foster its coming true."
