Whispers from The Brighter World
A Third Revelation

Sunday, October 14, 2001 - 8:30 a.m.

My dear sister, you should know that distances do not matter. The bonds of the heart are powerful; they defy space and time. They are subtle and indefectible. We make a great family of souls, which remains and comes back regularly here below. We are bound to this world; its becoming is close to our hearts. We all work, with our respective means, to help it in its rise. Humanly speaking, we have roots here; by scattering here we have contributed to the expansion of the race. This bond encourages us to make all sacrifices, to see to it to help man grow and follow the right path. The beings that influenced humanity left [behind them], not only disciples, but also children. You see how we are involved in this process of regeneration of the race, which is highly essential today. Mankind did not follow exactly the path that was all mapped out for it. It is therefore necessary to remedy this. There are various suitable means, and for us here, time does not matter. All will be fixed at the proper time, like the movement of a clock following its pace unrelentingly. Therefore, let us do our work as best we can; as for the remainder, God will provide for it."
