Whispers from The Brighter World
A Fourth Revelation

Monday, November 5, 2001 - 8:00 a.m.

You are now reassured about your brother: his transition went smoothly. He must find his bearings and start some work while trying to make up for lost time. Humans understand too late the true meaning of life. In spite of that, he [your brother] is quite ready to make headway towards his transformation, and he will do so quickly.

"Now that your heart has admitted the idea of this departure, you may wish to mention it around you and not withhold this sorrow.

"Humans find it difficult to bear the separation from a loved one. This test is easier to admit when one knows that it is only a temporary separation. Life and death are transitory states related to an incarnation. They should be placed in this context, thus putting them into perspective. The spell on Earth can be short or very long, according to the work to be undertaken by the entity. The departure of a loved one is a grieving experience, but it is everybody's fate, without any exceptions. These experiences mould the soul. When they are accepted for what they are, they are blessings."
