Whispers from The Brighter World
A Fourth Revelation

Sunday, November 25, 2001 - 8:00 a.m.

We let our aspirants have their own experiences. They should not remain plagued by repressed desires which hinder their rise.

"By lightening their burden a little more each time, if they are sufficiently clear-headed, they can draw enlightening conclusions from them. Little by little, in his way man strips himself of embarrassing attributes that characterise his personality. Trapped by his desires and habits hindering his advance, he must become aware of his weaknesses and remedy them, provided that necessary steps are taken. Human nature does not change easily. This requires a real effort to be made.

"With regard to our aspirants, a well-understood sadhana helps them to see clearly inside themselves and to draw the necessary conclusions. Doing everything possible to progress is commendable. We are helping them in this search which sets them free little by little.

"They are on their way, they are advancing full of hope and we are helping them. They will achieve their goal inevitably, strengthened by our blessings."
