Whispers from The Brighter World
A Fourth Revelation

Saturday, December 15, 2001 - 8:00 a.m.

Do you want us to stop talking today about the misery of the world, to go for a walk aimed at refreshing your heart? It seems that a touch of poetry would be welcome.

"See creation in terms of its most beautiful aspects, my child. Relish colours, perfumes and harmonious forms.

"How can nature in these smaller manifestations be so varied and so beautiful! Plants are an example of this, and the observation of flowers that delight man's eyes reveals that they are a world to be explored, with an infinitely rich diversity. Geometry is never absent from these constructions. Plants are subjected to the same laws as each element of the created world. Therefore, the same rigour prevails; order reigns and anything swerving from it is eliminated as a matter of course. Anomalies are hiccups that can be useful. Nothing is in vain. Anything seemingly imperfect in the eyes of men has its raison d'être. The divine plans have many facets.

"By seeing only beauty and perfection, man praises the Creator for the success and the splendour of His works."
