A Fourth Revelation

y daughter, be as light as the butterfly that leaves its chrysalis and rises into the air gracefully. Is it aware of its transformation? No, it cannot be. It all occurs without its knowledge and yet, it upgrades itself from its insignificant initial form to dazzling with beauty. Its colours dance in the light and it lives its life of a butterfly, fleeting but useful, at least in terms of its beauty since it can attract man's attention. As you can see, in creation everything evolves, it all changes and takes on different appearances. All are not as visible as in this insect; man does not pay attention to this clever work, which should deserve it nevertheless.

"Creation is extraordinarily rich, it is unequalled; it is unique.

"The same is true for what happens inside a being. His heart can become a priceless jewel that will seem colourless in the eyes of men. It conceals its treasures, which are not visible in this world, and yet this metamorphosis is the most beautiful, the most inspiring and unique, for it is of divine essence."
