Whispers from The Brighter World
A Third Revelation

Friday, February 1, 2002 - 8:00 a.m.

The trust put in us by our associates makes us happy – for them and our Mission that is continuing on its way without any blaze of publicity, but effectively. In some countries, it must proceed discreetly because of the lack of discernment. That is saddening but does matter. That which is good and decided from above is bound to last long. Our method is helping and will help the men of future times even more. A minority benefits from it already and constitutes a solid base. The hearts that are nurtured by them are determined; they see the system as a whole, a reliable one. We do not impose any constraining rules; each one of them moves at their own pace and they are not made to feel guilty with reproachful predictions of celestial wrath if they don't conform to the prescribed laws. We only see their good, their rise, through a repetitive work that depends only on them and their own spiritual attainment.

"Are our faithful aspirants aware of the simplicity of this method and its effectiveness? The most senior ones do not doubt it; their life has changed for the better. They are no longer slaves of some desires that held them back. They know where they are going and they advance with confidence, towards the light which is at the end of the road."
