A Third Revelation

ontrary to what you believe, you do not limit us. What is easy to read encourages one to start again and is better assimilated. It is not our purpose here to make learned sentences. The reading of these messages will be suitable for the majority of our abhyasis. Their objective is to sensitise them on easy acts and behaviours aimed at supporting their development. The subtlest reason was already given to you. Reading these pages leads to calmness and into an easy meditative state; this practice can be perfectly included in a well-understood sadhana. The assimilation of this practice little by little each day, fosters it [sadhana]. It would be good for our aspirants to try to get used to doing that; they can try it out and judge for themselves.

"A well-led spiritual practice must be nurtured with some ritual; which each one can organise as they please, taking into account our recommendations. While developing inside you, this spirituality takes an important place in your life. There comes a moment when it becomes necessary; stopping would leave a great vacuum, which nothing else could fill. We are happy to see you advancing more and more on this fast track, which is that of the aspiration of going towards the Ultimate. You all have the necessary means and our wishes and blessings accompany you."
