You make yourself available to us, which allows for these daily contacts. Your heart is offered with fervour; we want to underline this aspect. Your gifts would not be enough to achieve what is being developed each day without this love which supports you and makes you overcome what you are experiencing in your body.

"When we tell you that love is the driving force of the world, here is an example of it.

"Behind great achievements – those which in the past influenced civilisations and those which are being developed now – there is a form of love, whatever their beginning, which makes them great and beautiful."
