A Third Revelation

Yes, the Mission will develop in Black Africa. It answers the call of souls who seek it, ready to follow a spiritual way. Its scope there will be large in the future.

"When most of these countries have become politically and economically stable, they could represent a powerful force in the world, on all levels. Their respective wealth, utilised in a satisfactory way for the good of the people, would change the situation.

"With regard to spirituality, our teaching does not impose any constraint, only an individual practice that each one can adopt as they like and that can satisfy the greatest number. This simplicity is appreciated by our candidates. Some basic rules should be respected to achieve results; it is the least one should do. People who are very different from each other find their bearings in our way and they will be able to benefit from it. The new era will find souls attracted more and more towards what is salutary to them."
