Whispers from The Brighter World
A Third Revelation

Sunday, March 10, 2002 - 8:00 a.m.

We must put up with your reluctance to write what you cannot confirm. The readers of the future will not be able to imagine your inner struggle to write down some of these messages. Your hesitation to disclose some of them reassures us. You are moving while having your feet firmly on the ground, which may seem paradoxical for a medium in such circumstances. Too great a self-confidence would not serve our cause any better, therefore, we will continue like that.

"These messages are very often inspired by your life, the lives of all of you, you our readers. You have the same reactions in the face of some facts and they justify many of our comments. What may apparently not concern you today will do so tomorrow. The same colours inevitably appear in the palette of colours that make up the fabric of your lives. You can be different from your brothers in many respects, but the human characteristics are the same for all and no creature escapes the current archetype, in terms of the broad outline. All this can surprise you; each one believes that he is unique. They may be different in some respects, but they are so much like their human brothers. When we address our medium, we have each one of you in mind. Humanity is as one and indivisible, thus are the laws governing it."
