Whispers from The Brighter World

Tuesday, April 6, 1999 – 8:00 a.m.

on't worry about the interpretation of words which you find a little strong.
No matter what you write, there will always be misunderstandings.
Therefore, people's reactions to all this do not matter.
Something will eventually touch their hearts.

Do not be anxious; do not be afraid of suffering. Don't you trust us anymore?
Be strong, my child; take refuge in sadhana.
