Whispers from The Brighter World

Tuesday, April 6, 1999 – 10:00 a.m.

Life is like a play. You can be cast as a bad guy or a good one, but once the play is over, what remains of it? If you are good, be so truly; the bad guy may not be completely so.

All has its usefulness in the world of maya; this is called the balance of forces.
Refine yourself in your perception of things. Do not pass judgements.
Simply advance, stripping yourself of superfluity; do your best.
Be confident in the outcome of your life.
