Whispers from The Brighter World

A Third Revelation

Friday, April 5, 2002 - 10:00 a.m.

Humans should be able to stand one another. Each one of them is unique and they must adapt to the different aspects in others, who would otherwise feel misunderstood or excluded from this society they are moving in, and which they cannot change. These differences are inevitable and necessary to the work which man must do on himself to overcome his own tendencies and his excesses of all sorts. In our way, the purpose of the exercises we ask you to carry out is only to help you to clean up what hinders your evolution. The diversity of the human race generates many problems, which it is advisable to manage individually, then on the level of a family, a group or a country; and this will know no end, while this world keeps bathing in the current energy that animates the beings living in it. These problems are nowhere near being resolved. Humanity will still have a long way to go before managing to change it. The process is in the offing. It will succeed, which will enable this planet to get another status that will change the face of the world."
