Whispers from The Brighter World
A Third Revelation

Monday, April 8, 2002 - 8:00 a.m.

We don't do the very thing we ask you to avoid; we don't intend to judge you, but only to accompany you in this long process where thoughts and acts are not always easy to control. Thus is human nature, which lets itself be carried away, and sinks into situations which are sometimes difficult to extricate oneself from. Habits are rooted in man; when they are not good, he must fight to depart from them as much as he can. For some people, those are true dramas that can lead them to declining. The human being is placed before his responsibilities. The fight can be hard; we cannot resolve everything, but only take note and help in our way. Humanity is an immense field of suffering. Each one must grow and find the solution to his problems. Faith is a precious help; it accompanies life during its course and strengthens it. May it shower the world with its benefits; we work for that to happen and for grace to touch all hearts."
