Whispers from The Brighter World
A Third Revelation

Tuesday, April 9, 2002 - 10:00 a.m.

Your channelling capabilities allow us to have a rather special relationship; my son also can benefit from it and he appreciates it. That you can communicate with one another in this special way cannot surprise him – he who has such a wide experience of the mystery of the human being, which he explores himself in his own way in another context. In this aspect, you complement one another. Your resources are different, but aligned with each other to serve the same cause. These contacts will not be recognised and not appreciated by all. How could it be otherwise? This characteristic will surprise a good number of our candidates, but they will have to face the facts. Otherwise they will lose a teaching meant to help them in their everyday life and beyond. People's minds are opening up to these practices, yet they are misunderstood, and especially disparaged, for lack of sound elements that can be used as reference. The future will bring new data, which will allow a different approach to these phenomena. Men will not eternally keep blinkers on and will end up opening to a reality which would surprise them today. What many of them regard as trickery will end up prevailing in human knowledge, with the possibility of realising the difference between that and the reality of our contacts, which have resulted in this impressive number of messages that they will be able to benefit from."
