Whispers from The Brighter World
A Third Revelation

Tuesday, April 16, 2002 - 8:00 a.m.

t is true, my child, that you are nothing. You are like any other human being, an illusion – neither more, nor less – in this world. Bearing this truth in mind, you won't risk making yourself look important. So many humans do that, thinking they have powers, qualities that surpass those of their brothers, a higher level of intelligence placing them above the others.

"The only true greatness is that of the soul. This notion seems to escape them.

"A lot can be said about mankind, it is a constantly evolving race. This world is far from being perfect; that's hardly news. Each individual is responsible for himself, but also for others, in a way, since his behaviour influences his fellow man for better or worse. Humans are interdependent; they do not know it. They kill each other, hate each other, sometimes love and help each other, though the latter is not their predominant feature. We know that this world is on probation, that it must fight to be upgraded to the higher status; but who knows it among men! You, did you understand it? You know how to proceed and also that you set an example, therefore, it is up to you to decide on what your life will be, in terms of its final assessment."
