A Third Revelation

Mahasamadhi of Babuji

Let peace be in your hearts on this day, and let love always remain therein. The memory of this day remains active in people's minds; be blessed for that. This day was unique for me; it enabled me to find again my lord and Revered Master, Lalaji. We have already spoken about the love binding Master and disciple; at a certain level, it is eternal. Is there anything nobler, more beautiful, than this fusion of two souls into God? It is all about sheer joy; it is unequalled, and beyond human sense-based perceptions. Advancing in sadhana, you refine yourselves and you prepare your subtle bodies for other perceptions not pertaining to this world. You are not wasting your time; by practising assiduously, you build yourselves a richer life, more open to divinity. Love the Master with all your soul; he is the highly qualified guide who can lead you to the highest spiritual joys. There is no equivalence on this Earth. When you leave this body of flesh, what will outlive it is that which you shaped – through your perseverance and your faith – under his higher protection."
