Mahasamadhi of Babuji

A disciple's love for his Master must be the strongest. It is there, on a special level, beyond human concepts. This relationship is unique; the evolution of the candidate hinges on it. Only the Master can make him go through the highest stages. He shows him the way on all the levels, by activating one after the other these points that are the keys to success in this area. The inner Master does not reveal himself easily; the approach is long and requires the greatest vigilance. A highly elevated guide is qualified to help the disciple to reach the Inexpressible. At some point in his search, a heart most fervently devoted and loving inevitably stumbles over an insurmountable obstacle if he does not have this guidance. This fact is not easy to understand; some people dismiss this truth, and are deprived of a very sure means of obtaining what they have been seeking from life to life, consciously or not.

"There is a time for everything. When the heart of the seeker is ready, opportunity arises; it arrives in the wake of Him who is the Envoy. The soul can henceforth foresee its true fatherland; it feels connected with the supreme guide, who chose it. Serious work can start and the aspirant can be delighted; all is for the best."
