Whispers from The Brighter World

A Third Revelation

Thursday, May 2, 2002 - 8:00 a.m.

This divine and universal energy, love, is incommensurable. All and each one can benefit from it, more particularly in certain circumstances that support its manifestation. Man's heart feeds on it and is strengthened in cultivating it when he calls it intensely. The plurality of the worlds also is boundless and endless, without a beginning. Its complexity escapes today's keenest researcher completely. Human capabilities are limited. The scientists have not yet finished discovering and having to retract sensational observations and statements they may have made. This world of illusion hides the great truth from them, which no machine, however powerful it may be, can reveal to them since it is itself designed by man. His knowledge is limited to his smallness. He makes efforts, he makes progress, but he does not necessarily go in the right direction; there lies the nasty trick which creation holds for him. He believes he is the master of the world, he wants to dominate it; one day, all his theories will be swept away and engulfed, just like him, in the dust of time."
