Whispers from The Brighter World
A Third Revelation

Wednesday, May 22, 2002 - 8:00 a.m.

Until the end of your life – and constantly – you will have to control your reactions caused by emotions or tests, whatever their nature. That is life; so has it always been for the human race. Each one of these reasons has made you as you are today, allowing you, in many circumstances, to surpass yourself, to go beyond what you believed possible in terms of your resilience.

"At the beginning, life is a blank page on which, with the passing of time, even the least events are recorded. Everything is recorded and shapes, with the passing of years, the personality of the being. Until the end, it is possible to change; this opportunity is offered to man. He does not control his destiny, but he controls certain aspects of his life and controls his acts, which remain under his clear-sighted authority. One needs much clear-headedness and self-control in all circumstances to make the right choices, which help to go beyond the stage of a momentary incarnation and to act as well as possible for his own good and that of others."
