Whispers from The Brighter World
A Third Revelation

Thursday, May 23, 2002 - 10:00 a.m.

The more you advance, the better the way takes shape before you, very simple and free from obstacles. You know where you want to go and you work accordingly; it is logical. You made choices, you place all your trust in us and you will not regret it. Your road is henceforth set. After many forays into other ways, you have found in this system what you have been looking for. This truth was not strikingly evident to you immediately, as you were sceptical in the beginning since our way was not structured and did not present itself like very old movements, and did not have, apparently, the same rigour.

"Cleaning and transmission go well together; they complement each other and give the best results. One does not go without the other; it is obvious for whoever practises in our way. This process is not commonplace. We will not say it is unique, but its characteristics place it in a register of its own.

"You benefit from it; that's fortunate for you. If you could make comparisons, we would not praise the benefits you can derive from it any further. It is up to you to judge; such is our way of being."
