Monday, April 12, 1999 - 8:00 a.m.

Imagine what it takes to print the books of the Mission; you can figure it now.

"Is it worth it? Do you believe we have preached in the wilderness? So, would you not feel up to continuing? Take advantage of your having a good team now. Open-minded people will take these messages as another approach of our teachings. I appreciate what has been done; people's attention must be caught with an easy reading. Try to process them in a simpler way. Yes, I pay attention to these details, my daughter; so, don't you want to continue for me? Time is short, get down to work with ardour; you will not feel its small tiring effects. Do it for me, quite simply."

Babuji