My dear son,

"It is time that you acquaint yourself with a certain number of those messages, the existence and source of which are not unknown to you. They result from a long process between our medium and us who appreciate this means of communication.

"Admittedly they will not be accepted by all, but the future will hold for it a better understanding, and those messages will naturally find their place in our Mission.

"We wish you to look into those writings and see therein our desire to bring in a little different touch to our teachings.

"Our brothers and sisters, prefects, do not always have time to do this work towards our abhyasis, who will be able to find in these collections some answers to their questions, if they are published one day, in that form of approach which is a bit different from our books.

"It will be incumbent on you to make sure that things are like that in the future, by leaving your instructions on the matter. We follow you, my dear son, and our love carries you. You are the big initiator of our Mission who leads it in expansion that was long foreseen. You give it the best foundations and the desired impetus. We accompany this movement that will become more and more extensive. All takes place as per the ways planned to this effect.

"Pursue, according to our wishes, this mission of your own whereby you do excel.

"All our blessings to you, my dear son."
