Whispers from The Brighter World
A Third Revelation

Wednesday, June 5, 2002 - 10:00 a.m.

To serve one's Master, to serve the Mission – what better thing can happen to the sincere aspirant who is only yearning for that? It is grace being bestowed on him. Many possibilities are proposed to him; it is enough for him to express his good intentions and he will be heard. A way like ours, growing rapidly, will need more and more people of goodwill to help in the most varied fields. Each one can find one's place, if he really so wants. The Mission will have to be structured more and more, which entails using competences for the good of all. To belong to a big spiritual family implies some requirements, for oneself and others. Solidarity must be shown; it is not an empty word. It also finds its place in our way and should not be neglected. The strength of a movement lies in its cohesion, the understanding between the members who leave aside their disagreements to unite in a vast project in terms of building the future. It will be as our aspirants of today will actually want to build it, at least, in terms of its form. You are the chosen and blessed architects who have to play this role; it is up to you to see and act."
