Whispers from The Brighter World
A Third Revelation

Monday, June 10, 2002 - 8:00 a.m.

My son, beneath his sometimes impetuous exterior, conceals a sensitive and moving being in terms of the thoughtfulness of his heart. He has perused the messages he has received and he appreciates them – believe it well.

"He can see me again a little in this reading; he recognises in it accents which were familiar to him. He will be surprised by some messages and reassured by others. What is happening to him is unexpected and will bring him comfort. Everything comes at the right moment; it is necessary to wait for the right moment. We will carry on, on our road, together, my daughter. Our relationship will continue as in the past, even if the pace of these messages slows down considerably. Your heart will be able to vibrate endlessly in this joyful round where you know how to find mine, and benefit from its fatherly protection. We are grateful to you for the patience with which, under sometimes difficult conditions, you compelled yourself to do this work, even if it is guided and inspired by love. We love you, you know it, and this too will not change. We will remain united; we have all the good reasons for that.

"The barriers between my son and you are being removed little by little; nothing can make me happier than that. Neither of you are easy to understand, but everything is henceforth evolving favourably. We bless you, my daughter."
