Monday, June 17, 2002 - 4:15 p.m.

This new state of heart towards your Master makes me happy. It has taken such a long way to arrive at this. Nothing is impossible for God. He knows the secrecy of hearts; He brings them to where He wants. Thus is the higher order; it sweeps away human reticence when He so wishes. We can only appreciate it. His intentions fill us with joy; they go in the direction we expected. No one can escape his destiny. Let yourself be carried, my daughter, and be endlessly thankful for all that life brings to you. It is full of graces that are constantly renewed. Remain completely receptive, and offered to the divine will; you will not regret it. Thus is the history of your life, which is not as banal as you tend to believe. Remain well in this feeling of surrender and fervour. Nothing should disturb you. Love God and love us, until the end of your life; all will be for the best."

Babuji