Whispers from The Brighter World
A Third Revelation

Saturday, July 6, 2002 - 10:00 a.m.

Would our scribe be showing signs of lassitude? We could understand it after all these many years of service. Your tiredness is physical; your heart is not tired of receiving us and loving us. We have no doubt on this aspect. The aspiration of the being for spiritual elevation is insatiable; it benefits from each opportunity to seize its chance. It is in need, and impatient to progress when it has reached this stage. Our faithful abhyasis know it well; they are attentive to all the signs that do occur. They are assiduous, persevering and worthy, in the way of leading a simple life whereby due place is given to what they regard as being very important: their spiritual practice.

"All this seems the most normal possible, but out of the large number of humans living on this Earth, not many have this way of life. Our remarks do not teach you anything, they are only meant to make you reflect one moment on this sad truth: men as a whole don't care much about their evolution. They pursue fleeting pleasures and try to accumulate goods of which, sooner or later, they will be dispossessed."
