Wednesday, July 10, 2002 - 8:45 a.m.

ou should learn how to dissociate your spiritual life from all the remainder. Reserve a truly special place for it, letting anything belonging to your everyday life fly above it. Give it the best place; support its development, making sure that it covers the remainder. Learn how to give a relative place to the course of the days. There comes a moment in the long process of a soul when it all changes course and takes on its true dimension."

Babuji