Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, April 17, 1999 – 10:00 a.m.

Soon you will leave the shore, your boat will sail towards the infinite; its journey over, we will be there to wait for you and to rejoice.

You have made the commitment to write everything. If these writings related to someone else, how would you take it?

Your reserve comes from the fact that they are for you. Think that they are addressed to your spiritual being and all will be well.
