Whispers from The Brighter World
A Third Revelation

Friday, July 19, 2002 - 8:00 and 10:00 a.m.

My son is overwhelmed; nothing escapes his vigilance. The growing Mission becomes an important matter to be managed. He has an innate sense of organisation, but all becomes difficult for him because of its scope. Abhyasis will have to put in efforts more and more so that the Mission can be structured harmoniously on the material plane. While growing, the Mission is posing many problems, financial and human. Nothing is simple with men; they go and seek complications where there should be none. Our work changes them spiritually, but as for their character, radical transformation does not necessarily ensue. We know the weak points of mankind and we take it into account as much as possible, while making sure that of those who have faith in us, the best is developed and bears its fruit in our nice undertaking. Each one is doing his best. Our aspirants, as a whole, are very willing. The blinkers that sometimes limit them are inherent in the world where they live. The important thing is that work should progress; inevitably, man will manage to reach the highest level of spirituality."
